

Ilana Agranovich engineer on "Smart sleep" Laboratory in Saratov State University, Russia. Her research interests are focused on the study of nature of stress and development of stress-related diseases and the application in practical medicine the novel optical and mathematical technologies for prognosis and treatment of social important stress-induced diseases.